What are Community Schools?

A community school is a “whole-child” school improvement strategy where the district and school work closely with teachers, students, families, and partners.

California Community Schools Partnership program (CCSPP) received $3 billion to help support schools’ efforts to provide wraparound services for students.

- There are three separate funding opportunities for CCSPP
  - Planning Grants (2 rounds)
  - Implementation Grants
  - Extension grants
- Lead Technical Assistance Center, Regional Technical Assistance Centers, and County Offices of Education support CCSPP
- SHC and CHYP are offering services to community schools to provide targeted outreach, support, and assistance for students experiencing homelessness
